List of the Polling-Places in This City-Read

Following is the list of polling-places for Inesday. Every Democrat should inform bimself where he has to go to deposit his ballot, and this is particularly important in the case of voters who live in the new prechets and in the old precincts from which the new ones have been created. In some of the wards the long-established voting-places have been changed. Read and in-form yourself.

MR. RANDALL CAN'T COME HERE.

The Clay-Ward Actives having had the promise that the Hon. Samuel J. Randall would come here and address the voters of their ward, creeted a speaker's stand and receive him. their ward, creeted a speaker's stand and made many preparations to receive him and give him a good crowd. Everything that they had to do was done, and well done, and they only waited his coming to have a grand joilification, to show the world that the workingmen of this city-those who have always been Democrats and some who have hitherto been Republicans—are a unit for Cleveland. Now Mr. Randalt finds it impossible to come, and Randali finds it impossible to come, and the club, in view of the fact that the meeting was designed especially for him, and that there is much other work pressing upon them and required to be done before Tuesday, have concluded not to have any public meeting at all. They will turn their attention in another direction.

ROUSING RALLY LAST NIGHT.

Stiring Speeches from Hon. A. M. Keiley, Hon. George D. Wise, Colonel W. S. Gilman, Mr. Jackson Gay, and Colonel

According to announcement, hundreds of people assembled in the Oid-Market Hall bust bush to hold a grand Democratic rally The hall was filled, and the best of order was minimal and, and the best of order was minimaled. A stand, well lighted was built on the centre of the east side of the built, the floor covered with saw-dust, and the room decorated tastefully.

Mr. John M. Huggins presided, and in pleasing terms introduced the speakers, the first of whom was

HON, A. M. KEILEY.

Mr. Keiley opened by alluding to the light that Jefferson Ward made against the custom-house thirteen years ago. The same old assailants that had tried to put the bottom rail on top were now at work. What answer would Jefferson Ward made to a cet of this part; It was need. work. What answer would Jefferson Ward make to an act of this sort? It was needless to ask. Thirteen years ago the old men and the voung and the best men of this ward stood on their feet all day long to ward off this dangerous element, which was altempting to work the destruction of good government.

The same old custom-house ring, is hamed to give the public the names of the disreputable parties they had engaged to make war in the effort to carry the State for the Republicans, was at work. The speaker

Republicans, was at work. The speaker alluded to his broken voice, made so by service in the western and northern states, and then passed to the review of the condi-tion of the political field. He called over names of numbers of leading Republicans, men who had stood forth in the past as stiming lights and leaders, and who to-day were advocating the cause of Cleveland and Hendricks. He pictured the Dorseys. Bradys, and such-like men, who had always given their support to Plaine and Logan. Mr. Blaine sat down night before last at a support at Delmonico's, in New York, at which five hundred millions of dollars were represented.

The wealth of the Goulds, Vanderbilts, and such like men had been doubled and trebled. Had the wealth of the workingmen of Jefferson Ward been increased? In illustrating this point Mr. Keiley said In illustrating this point Mr. Keiley said that the best answer he had heard to a question of this sort was made by an Irisboan in the West. His employer came to him and said :

"I want you to vote with me for Blaine, John, this time,"
"Why so, sir?" said the Irishman,
"Because if Cleveland and Hendricks that was the truth you would vote for But rest assured that whatever is necessary to guarantee full protection to every legal voter will be done.

Yours most respectfully.

MANCHESTER MATTERS.

Committee of One Hundred—The Marble Heart—Mr. Hancock, &c., &c.

The Committee of One Hundred will meet at Democratic headquarters to unght. Their is a large amount of work to be done, so, Democrats, turn out to might. Do your best, Leave nothing undone. Beware of bogust tickets. Watch for fraudulent votes. Bring out the full vote.

"The Marble Heart" was presented a second time at Cersley's Hall last night by the Manchester Musical and Dramatic Association, with the same cast of characters which appeared in it Tuesday night. The fine acting showed the talent that is here, and all it needs is cultivation. This play has proved a success in every respect.

years ago, James G. Blaine allowed Irish suspects—naturalized Americans—to be kept in English prisons while he was Secretary of State. The only crime these men had committed was that they were bern in another country. How did a Democratic Secretary of State act in the case of a young Austrian, who reads owed military service to the Empire? Martin Costa, at Smyrna, had been rescribed by Captain Ingraham, a good old Democrat, who sent word to the authorities at Smyrna that if Martin Costa was not released in one Empire? Martin who sent word to the authorities at Smyrna, who sent word to the authorities at Smyrna that if Martin Costa was not released in the hell? The Democratic government endorsed Captain legralant's act. George b, Wisk,

Mr. Higgins introduced the Hon, George b, Wise, who was greefed with cheers as became forward. He said thirteen year-ago be made the first speech in Jefferson Ward that he ever made in Richmond. Thirteen years ago Jefferson Ward find endorsed him, and he did not be heve that it would fail to do so now.

He had been anxious to meet the workingmen of Jefferson Ward, He wanted to say that there was but workingment of Jefferson Ward, He wanted to say that there was but little change in the district under the new apportionment, which really was beneficial to bino. He had canvassed the district all through. He had told the peaking a majority this time, and he intended to stay in Rohmond from this time until election-day. Colonet Hubard had not said during the canvass that he mail differed with him in a vote that he had cast. All he wanted was to get him out, and get in himself.

The Republicans were making a special appeal to workingmen were making a special appeal to workingmen were to be reduced by any action of his, he would go a step by any action of his, he would go a step by any action of his, he would go a step by any action of his, he would go a step by any action of his, he would go a step by any action of his, he would go a step by any action of his, he would go a step by any action of his, he would go a step by any action of his, he would go a step by any action of his, he would go a step by the hour.

they meeded protection. If he frontilit he wages of workingmen were to be reduced by any action of his, he would no a step natther and join the strakers in their behalf. Whe was it that brought the chinese to this country? The Goulds, the Huntingfons, Sages, and others who sat at the table with Jun Baime day before yesterday. Where did these people get their millions? By stealing from the Terasury and stinizing chinese labor, the importation of which they legalized by the use of their money. The Democratic Congress stopped this and said, no more Chinese labor. Captain Wise then closely and forefully discussed the labor question, appearing as the advocate of the workingman, and giving a history of his stewardship in Congress to prove that he, and the Democratic party as well, had been true to workingmen. The suspension of the factories in Manchester, Matoaca, Swift Creek, and Petersbarg and the suffering of operatives who had been thrown out of employment was cited.

Mr. Meanley appearing as the advocate of the workingman, and giving a history of his stewardship in Congress to prove that he, and the Democratic party as well, had been true to workingman, and giving a history of his stewardship in Congress to prove that he, and the Democratic party as well, had been true to workingman, and giving a history of his stewardship in Congress to prove that he, and the factories in Manchester, Matoaca, Swift Creek, and Petersbarg and the suffering of operatives who had been thrown out of employment was cited.

Mr. Wise read from the Disquelch the letter of Erasmus Corning, of New York, in man who employs 6,000 operatives. He said it was the voice of the workshop, and was better than a political speech. Mr. Corning was a Republican manufacturer, but he told the country that unless there was change in the Covernment he would have to suspend or reduce his force. He said that with a Democratic Administration he could employ 2,000. A Richmond manufacturer had said that under Democratic rule he could employ a force of 1,000 mi hen instead of 200.

A mechanic had told him yesterday that he had been out of employment for four menths and had not a dime to buy bread for his wife and children. This was a complete answer to Mr. Blaine. It was a mockery to tell a starving men that he was protected. It was an insult to talk to him this way, when the Treasury was to mine with Colonel Gilman was next introduced by Mr. Higgins. He made a ringing speech, which held the crowd in closest attention. He ridiculed the tariff, and said go and ask a negro preacher what the entegory of would tell what the tariff was. He had an aptitude for reporting things, and amusingly described the various tariff arguments. Men used to learn Greek. They ments. Men used to learn Greek. They do not now, because German is more practical. He practically talked tarif, and said it was a stumbling-block to the Greeks, and to the Jews it was foolishness. It was not an issue in this campaign. Stand aside with minor issues when you were confronted with the small-pox of Mahoneism and the black vomit of Republicanisms. Democrats had no representation from the South in any calaint offler, or foreign ap-Democrats had no representation from the South in any cabinet offlee, or foreign appointment. Colonel Gilman sat down amidst the cheers of the crowd, and the next speaker was Mr. Jackson N. Guy, member of the Council frem Madison Ward. He spoke in neouraging terms, and his words were brave, courageous, and hopeful.

In not always enloyed by those who seem to pos-senti. The taint of corrupted blood may be se-cretly undermining the constitution. In time, the poison will certainly show its effects, and with all the more virulence the longer it has been allowed to permeate the system. Each pimple, sty, both skin disorder and sense of unaniural insatiseles, or languor, is one of Nature's warnings of the con-sequences of neglect.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA is the only remedy that can be relied upon, in all is the only remedy that can be relied anon, in all cases, to eradicate the taint of hereditary disease and the special corruptions of the blood. It is the only alterative that is soft-iently powerful to thoroughly cleanse the system of SCROFULOUS and MERCURIAL importies and the pollution of CONTAGIOUS DISEASES. It also neutralizes the noisons left by DIPHTHERIA and SCARLET-FEVER, and enables rapid recuperation from the enfeeblement and debility caused by these way, when the Treasury was teening with millions. He alluded to the fact that Mr. Hugh McCulloch, the recently appeared Secretary, was a Free Traier.

He read from the platforms of the two parties the tariff plants, and said that he did not believe that the audience could distinguish between them. Mr. Wise then asked: "Which is the Democratic platform—the first I read or the last?"

form—the first I read or the last?"

All over the house from the crowd came a confused reply of "The first," "The last," followed by bursts of taughter from the crowd.

The latter portion of Captain Wise's speech was full of cloquence, and was received with great apphase by the crowd, who, when he came to stop, would not hear to it, but eried "Go on, go on." His sweetest reflection, said the speaker, was that the workingmen for whom he delighted to labor, were standing at his side.
